Three years before his death Michel Foucault delivered a series of lectures at the Catholic University of Louvain that until recently remained almost unknown. These lectures — which focus on the role of avowal or confession in the determination of truth and justice — provide the missing link between Foucault's early work on madness, delinquency and sexuality and his later explorations of subjectivity in Greek and Roman antiquity. Ranging broadly, a stunning set of lectures given by Foucault that focus on the history of avowing one's acts and the truth of who one is. Foucault seeks to understand at what point it became important not only to confess to a crime but to avow one's
